'Water Discoloration Is Not Harmful' Says Water Company

by Gunnar Norberg

Recurring complaints through the years about discolored water coming out of taps in Carmel homes have been called to the attention of local water company officials and to public authorities.

Often those who have complained have felt too little has subsequently been done to correct the causes which had led to the complaints.

Last week the Carmel City Council heard the most recent of those complaints from Ray Lindsay, whose home is on Upper Trail in the Carmel area.

Lindsay spoke about a sample of discolored water which had been drawn from a tap in his home on April 21 by his wife, and later sent to the Lexington Scientific Laboratory in Lexington, Ohio, for testing.

Asked about the content of the reply from the Lexington laboratory, Mrs. Lindsay said it advised that "the sample was not safe for drinking unless chlorinated."

Having two small children—one aged six months and one five years, she became alarmed. After hearing the complaint at last week's meeting, the Carmel City Council directed City Administrator Hugh Bayless to express the city's grave concern to the local water company management.

In a letter received at City Hall last Monday, David H. Fiscus, California American Water Company division manager, said ". . . we take a bacterial sample in the area once a week" and that it had happened, by coincidence, that his company's weekly sample was taken the same day (April 21) when the Lindsays took theirs. "Our sample," said Fiscus, "was completely negative, and, in fact, over the many years we have been taking the samples," his letter added, the sampling "has never been positive at any time." Fiscus also added that "the Monterey County Health Department took a routine sample at Mr. Lindsay's home on April 28 which showed the water on that date to have been free from any contamination."

Referring to the discoloration of the water—which Mrs. Lindsay says has occurred several times during the year-and-a-half she has occupied her Upper Trail home—Fiscus acknowledged that "sometimes there is visible sediment in the water which has been stirred up by some irregular use, and sometimes there is color due to rust." He added that these "are not pleasant to behold, but pathogenically they are not harmful to the individual."

Elsewhere in his letter to Bayless, Fiscus says that "all of our water which has been exposed to any possibility of any contamination is chlorinated before it goes into service. Chlorination takes place at San Clemente Reservoir, and at the Carmel Valley Filter Plant, and at the Forest Lake and Pacific Grove Reservoirs, which are terminal reservoirs close to town."

Meanwhile an inquiry at the County Health Department in Salinas, brought the reply that that department is checking into the water complaint from Carmel.

Walter Wong, the county's environmental health supervisor, said he intends immediately "to call in the State Health Department for a detailed investigation of the current complaint about the water quality in the Carmel area, and to determine what public health hazards may be involved. Meanwhile," he added, "our county department is making a preliminary investigation in the matter."

Teachers Propose Salary Raise

A petition signed by 92 teachers opposed the idea of merit pay proposed by the Carmel Unified School Board for which $8000 was set aside in last year's budget.

The Carmel chapter of the American Federation of Teachers was represented by Howard Byrne, industrial arts teacher, who expressed a consensus that any teacher evaluation would be too complex and might lower morale.

Ralph Kahl, AFT secretary and high school biology teacher, suggested that there be extra pay for extracurricular duty.

Raymond Gere, high school English teacher, reminded the board that extra pay for coaches created a precedent.

Don Blakeman, Middle School history teacher, representing the negotiating council, said that this was the position expressed by the council at the last board meeting.

A salary adjustment upward of seven per cent to meet the increase in the cost of living was proposed by the negotiating council, represented by vice-chairman Blakeman.

Kahl backed him up by saying the District salary schedule last year was four per cent below the 11 per cent requested.

School Superintendent Taylor explained why the coming budget is so uncertain.

Federal funding for military dependents will be reduced by $65,000. Obliteration of the state personal property tax will reduce the Carmel school income by $70,000. Under the Reagan tax reforms, the district could lose $500,000 for transportation, educationally handicapped and other special services.

New Courses At High School

The use of teacher aides to supplement staff teams and allow greater individual help to students was overwhelmingly endorsed by the Tularcitos staff who have used them, but turned down by River School staff as expressed by principal Edwin McCurry, whose 14 teachers were afraid the aides would require too much time to train.

Supt. Harris Taylor had been authorized by the board to field test the pattern of a two-teacher three-aide team which would yield an adult-to-student ratio of one to fifteen.

He reminded the River staff that highly gifted college graduates were available at a third the cost of a certified teacher.

New courses at the high school were approved for next year. They include creative writing, basic composition, an English course called "the 'new youth' culture and customs," graphic arts, photography, Spanish-Mexican civilization, Spanish commercial translation, and Spanish Humanities.

Board member James Brock inquired whether any effort had been made to start a homemaking course. Supt. Taylor replied that they were considering two possibilities, a sewing course taught by a local commercial company or the Monterey Peninsula College.

Monterey Symphony Review

By Rachel Morton

The final concert of the 1968-69 season by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra at the Sunset Auditorium Tuesday night apexed a season of outstandingly fine concerts.

And to Haymo Taeuber, the music director, must go the credit.

Not only has he given us programs of distinction, but he has shaped our orchestra into professional status.

The herculean task of presenting the great Verdi "Requiem" for the final concert required courage, knowledge and hard work.

These qualifications Mr. Taeuber had, as was evidenced in the very fine singing of the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society; the superb playing of the orchestra and the unusual excellence of the four soloists who were Meg Broughton, soprano; Willene Gunn, mezzo; Rico Serbo, tenor; and James Tippey, bass.

Guiseppi Verdi, famed opera composer, wrote the Requiem Mass in honor of the writer, Manzoni, whom he greatly admired. Although a Requiem means peace, Verdi's dramatic flair fired the score with music so tremendous — so overwhelming as to be almost emotionally unbearable at times. Hell fire blazes; souls in anguish shriek; clamoring mortals implore mercy — and at length all are redeemed through the prayers of the faithful. How does one describe in words music of such magnitude?

The appeal for mercy, "Kyrie" was sung by the four solo voices. Four smashing chords, hammered out by the orchestra; drum beats like thunder claps; the blaring of trumpets, onstage and off; ominous utterances by the chorus ushered in the great "Dies Israe," foretelling a terrible doom. It was blood-curdling music!

The famous tenor solo "Ingemisco" was beautifully sung and how thrilling was the warm and resonant voice of the bass in "Confutatis Maledictis." The gentle rhythm, almost like a lullaby was the lovely quartette singing of "Lachrymosa."

Like trickling water were the descending scales in the "Offertorium," both in the orchestra and with the soloists. Reverently and fervently stated was the "Hostias" by the tenor and soloists.

The "Sanctus" was heralded in by a fanfare of brass, the chorus following in quick rhythm and robust tone, in a double fugue.

The vocally difficult music of the duet for soprano and mezzo in the "Agnus Dei" was admirably sung.

In a prayer for peace, and "Lux Aeterna" (Life Eternal) the mezzo was joined by the trio in quiet almost dirge-like music. Then suddenly, like a clarion call, came the cry of the mezzo in "Et Lux Perpetua.". Orchestra and chorus returned in a terrific drive; (the terror of the music of the "Dies Irae") in "Libera Me."

In striking contrast and in Verdi's genius for dramatic effect, came the closing-almost in whispers, as the chorus sang "Requiem Aeturnum" above which soared the lovely voice of the soprano. The great Requiem was given a performance long to be remembered.

Just before the start of Tuesday's performance, James M. R. Glaser, president of the Monterey County Symphony Association addressed the audience and dedicated the performance to the memory of the late Samuel F. B. Morse.

SAMUEL F. B. MORSE

A great man is gone.

A great man whose vision brought about a commercial venture that placed the preservation of the beauties provided by a bountiful nature ahead of turning them into a wasteland for profit.

A great man whose love of green and growing things has had a marked effect on the loveliness of the entire Monterey Peninsula.

A great man who foresaw the encroaching cities and provided plentiful scenic easements to preserve the character of Monterey.

A great man who is responsible for the present state of the natural beauty of local forest lands, for the unencumbered shorelines and for the unsurpassed beauties of this area.

A great man whose interest in sports made Pebble Beach one of the last dwindling bastions of polo, and made the name "Monterey Peninsula" synonomous with the game of golf.

A great man whose unquenchable zest for life set him apart as a 20th Century giant among men.

It is truly a sad thing that this great man is gone, but His Spirit is still among us.

Goodbye to a great man.

EDITORIAL

As the Pine Cone goes to press, five candidates have filed for the Assembly seat vacated by the tragic death of Alan Pattee.

Since filing closes tomorrow, it is doubtful that any more candidates will show up, so the race will probably be between Bob Wood, Bertram Rudolph, Mitchell Bedford, former State Senator Fred Farr and Alton Ogborn.

If Fred Farr is elected, the one additional Democrat in the Assembly will throw the balance of power to the Democrats, and Jesse Unruh will undoubtedly become Speaker of the Assembly once again.

It is obvious that this is precisely what the Republicans will employ as a campaign issue, and State Senator Donald L. Grunsky, who defeated Farr for the Senate seat in 1966, maintains that the people have had "a bellyful" of Unruh.

Of the Republicans, Bob Wood, South Monterey County Supervisor, epitomizes the traditional GOP politician, somewhat on the conservative side, a prodigious worker and one of the most popular of the County Supervisors.

Wood is conceded the best chance of the GOP candidates to give Farr a battle.

At the extreme opposite of the political spectrum is Dr. Mitchell Bedford, Hartnell College psychology professor, whose views are extremely liberal. He says he has entered the race only to determine if a man of modest means can win in an election in today's political arena.

The third Republican is Bertram Rudolph of Carmel Highlands. He describes his political philosophy as just to the left of center.

Alton Ogburn, a teacher at Alisal High School in Salinas, is running on the American Independent Party ticket.

The sole Democrat in the race is Farr. One of the most popular political figures in the area, he carried Monterey County in the 1966 race for the State Senate. He has given up a lucrative job in Washington to make the race.

Republicans hope a dilution of the Democratic vote will prevent any candidate achieving the necessary 51 per cent of the vote and force a runoff election in July.

Parents Impressed By Science Fair

Middle School Gym was crowded with proud parents last week when they came to see the 278 science project exhibits done by their offspring.

Many of the projects were extremely impressive like the study of five objects in a wind tunnel built by 7th grader Sue Caswell and the still built by 6th graders Bill Morris and Greg Hittleman.

A brightly colored and ingenious project was that of Michael O'Meara in the 5th grade, by which lung capacity could be tested.

An extremely attractive exhibit by 8th grade student Jennie Bestor illustrated the laws of probability with playing card hands and other clever cartoons.

Plastic Surgeon Visits Carmel

A noted plastic surgeon, Dr. Jim G. Duckett, and his wife spent a recent weekend in Carmel. Written up in Life with photos of some of his remarkable surgeries, he was the youngest surgeon invited to attend the conclave of the International College of Plastic Surgeons in Rome, Italy last year.

He will attend a similar meeting of the Far East Academy of Facial Surgery at Hong Kong in August.

While here the Oklahoma City couple took a historic tour of the entire Peninsula, a Bay cruise, dined at Del Monte Lodge, Fisherman's Wharf, Cannery Row, had visited most of the Carmel brunch at the Pine Inn and art galleries and shops.

They liked it so well they leased a house for a week over Labor Day, said their exhausted hostess, Jewel White, local past president of Welcome Wagon.

JOE HITCHCOCK — A well known old timer, original Carmelite, whose Indian forbears helped build the Mission and whose grandfather planted Commodore Sloat's flag in Monterey, passed on at 88 on May 8. He was a great teller of tales, of early Carmel and the old days in Carmel Valley where he was born and to which he returned in 1945. Space does not permit recalling all the stories, of how the Pine Inn rolled down Ocean Avenue, of knowing such people as Jack London, about the 17-Mile Drive Chinese settlers, but his many friends will never forget them, nor the sight of him on his horse or with his dog. He is survived by his wife Hazel, two sons, Lytton, of Carmel Valley, and Vernon of Anchorage, Alaska, a daughter, Mrs. Clara Hakola of Antioch, nine grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark W. Struve

Toshia Seeders Married At All Saints'

The marriage of Toshia Seeders of Carmel and Clark W. Struve of San Jose was held at All Saints' Episcopal Church recently. The Rev. David Hill officiated.

Toshia is the daughter of Mrs. Earl R. Leffingwell of Carmel and the late Gerald F. Seeders. She was given in marriage by Mr. Leffingwell.

Toshia made her own wedding dress of white silk organza in empire style, designed with cap sleeves. It was appliqued in lace daisies.

A cluster of petals held her bouffant net veil and she carried a nosegay of white and yellow daisies.

Dannielle Duygou of Carmel was her maid of honor and her other attendants were Gamma Phi Beta sorority sisters from San Jose State College from which Toshia was graduated in January.

They wore floor length dresses of rose-printed batiste and carried white baskets of straw flowers in varying shades of pink.

A reception at the Fort Ord Officers' Club followed.

Toshia attended Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College before transferring to San Jose State where her husband graduated last year.

The couple is starting their married life in Fort Gordon, Georgia where the groom, an Army lieutenant, is stationed.

Marriage At Carmel Mission Basilica

The recent marriage of Thorsten Trygve Weiser and Pamela Rose Jones at the Carmel Mission Basilica seemed particularly right in as much as the groom's great - great - grandfather, Cristiano Machado was custodian of the church for many years.

His grandfather, the late Roy Fraties, was baptised and married there and lived in the Cristiano family dwelling on the grounds as a child.

Native of Carmel, Sten, as he is called, is the son of Col. and Mrs. Gus (Fordre Fraties) Weiser of Otis AFB, Mass. His bride is from Owensboro, Kentucky, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Jones. She attended Brescia College there.

The Rev. Felix Migliazzo officiated at the morning ceremony for which Alphonse Eisen of Carmel escorted the bride to the altar.

Miss Dorothy Western of Monterey was her attendant. Best man was Robert Western of Monterey, Sten's employer.

Following the ceremony for which the bride was dressed in a long gown of white lace with full skirt and chapel train, a reception was given at the Carmel home of Mrs. Roy Fraties, Sten's grandmother.

During the groom's four years of service with the U. S. Air Force, including duty in Vietnam, he was a trainer-handler of sentry dogs. He received 10 medals and completed his tour with the rank of staff sergeant.

The couple will live in Monterey.

Ensign John Tracy Is Married

A honeymoon in Carmel followed the recent marriage in Stockton of Ensign John C. Tracey III, formerly of Carmel, and Nancy Lee Sweet.

John is a graduate of Carmel High School and Stanford University. He is the son of Col. and Mrs. John C. Tracey Jr. now of Saratoga, and the grandson of Col. and Mrs. John C. Tracey of Carmel.

Overpopulation Evils Described By Dr. Adams

"Nothing would elevate disadvantaged people so much as to limit their number," said Dr. Lowell Adams in his recent talk on human ecology to "Operation Update" at Monterey Peninsula College, sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

He described the demoralization of habits on the part of caged mice when allowed unlimited reproduction even with plenty of food. The mice begin to huddle or "urbanize"; the mothers no longer keep their nests clean; the mice engage in homosexuality, promiscuity and they kill each other.

Prolonged life from the control of disease causes the population explosion, he said, not the birth rate.

Overpopulation results in food shortage, diseases due to crowding and malnutrition, war for "lebensraum" or living space, contamination of environment from pesticides and waste, and social stress.

Population doubles so fast that "in 1975 we will have to decide which countries to help — other millions in abject misery will die, and we can do nothing," he said.

"Even family planning is not enough," he said. "We must limit each family to two children to control the population. Food production is not rising anyway near the same extent as the population and the ocean is a very limited resource."

For every pound of food sent abroad, he suggested sending a like amount in contraceptives.

He suggested the incentive of tapering off the $600 exemptions in our income tax after two children were born to a family.

He recommended joining an organization called Zero Population Growth, Box 147, Old Mystic, Connecticut.

Carmel Senior Citizens Day May 20

May 20 has been designated Carmel Senior Citizen Day in line with proclamations by President Nixon and Governor Reagan naming May as Senior Citizens Month.

Many groups interested in Senior Citizens will present events, exhibits and gatherings for and by oldsters.

Mrs. Ruth Thornburg, Carmel city librarian, will feature books and publications with large print in prominent display, while the Carmel Adult Education School will exhibit crafts and projects by adult students.

At the Carmel Foundation's Town House, located at Lincoln and 8th, where the paintings of Alfred Lichten, Carmel artist, are on exhibition through May, Lichten will be present to meet visitors from 2 until 4 p.m.

Among the other items on display at the Town House will be knitted cast socks.

Right. Knitted cast socks. Senior Citizens knit these mukluk-like items to fit over the casts of men with leg wounds from Vietnam. They complain that their toes protruding from their casts get uncomfortably cold, so a whole new knitting industry has sprung up.

Primarily, the socks should be made from odds and ends of yarn only, since the resulting mad, wild color combinations are appealing and amusing and sometimes mighty attractive.

All this will be on display all day at the Town House, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Tea will be served in the afternoon.

NEW MANAGER—Max W. McKee has been appointed General Manager of Carmel's famous landmark, The Pine Inn. The announcement was made by his father, Carroll McKee, owner of the historic hostelry. Jacques Van Seeters will continue on as assistant manager, and the traditional warmth and hospitality will continue to be the keynote of the hotel. The younger McKee has recently purchased a home in Carmel Knolls, where he and his wife Louise will reside with their four children, Richard, Kelly, Melissa and Ross.

LEGION OFFICERS

The Carmel Post of the American Legion met last week to elect officers for 1969, and the results found Pat O'Malley the new post commander.

Other officers include Julian Caheen, 1st vice-commander; Jim Ryan, 2nd vice-commander; Al Chapin, adjutant; Barney Segal, finance officer; Frank Kaelin, chaplain; Roland Pilon, judge advocate, and Charles Pilon, sergeant-at-arms.

Elected to the executive committee wre Stanley Clay, Kerman Alderson, Dick Zimmerman, John Weigold and Grady Woods.

The new commander, Pat O'Malley, will take over from past commander Bob Gilmour.

UCB Economic Forecast Sees Solid Business Gains Throughout 1969

The Dow Jones Industrial Average should penetrate 1,000 by the end of 1969 despite irregularities which will occur.

Solid business gains should be recorded in Monterey County during the balance of 1969. The population count on July 1 will be about 252,000, with a total of 4,000 new residents being added between January 1 and December 31.

Personal income received by the county's populace during 1969 will move over the $1 billion mark. This means that for a family of three, average income will be about $12,800.

These were just a few of the highlights of a presentation given by United California Bank the afternoon of May 12, at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club in Pebble Beach.

Serving as hosts were E. Herrick Low, vice chairman of the board; Charles Baillie, senior vice president; M. F. Parker, vice president and K. S. Graham, vice president.

A large number of area business leaders and managers of UCB's offices in Monterey County including Don. Nelson of Carmel and John Rambach of Carmel Valley, heard Dr. Ray Jallow, vice president and chief economist for the bank, discus these and several other important points contained in the bank's "1969 Economic and Monetary Forecast."

Also discussed in the UCB "Forecast" is the impact of a Vietnam settlement on the California economy. It was noted that there is the prevailing assumption that the State's business activity is considerably more oriented to the Vietnam war than that of other states; thus, conversion to "peacetime" conditions would present a formidable problem for California. However, in-depth research revealed that the State is much less dependent upon this type of military spending than are several other states. In fact, the war has even been acting as more of a drag on certain segments of the local economy, than as a stimulus.

However, some areas in California may have somewhat more of a readjustment problem than others, and Monterey County is one of these. A recent survey estimated that about 1,000 jobs have been added in the area in support of the Vietnam war, and due to their nature, cutbacks could occur within a few months' time. Businesses in the area should remain aware of this, and make some provision in their plans for the year, Dr. Jallow said.

Symphony Brochure Describes Program For New Season

A colorful season ticket brochure is being mailed to Monterey County music lovers.

The brochure is a product of the Monterey County Symphony Association, and according to James M. R. Glaser, president of the symphony group, the brochure announces the opening of the season ticket drive for the 1969-70 concert season.

The brochure contained a surprise for Monterey Peninsula residents, as it revealed that six concerts have been scheduled for Monterey Peninsula College's new gymnasium-auditorium.

The MPC series, to be held on Sunday evenings, was approved by the Symphony Association's board of directors following the enthusiastic public reception of the orchestra's March concert at the college.

Appearing as guest soloists under the baton of Conductor Haymo Taeuber will be pianists Jean Casadesus and Janet Goodman, violinist Mari Tsumura, soprano Jeannette Walters and the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society.

Casadesus will preside over an all-Beethoven program designed to celebrate the composer's 200th birthday.

According to Glaser, the deadline for renewing Carmel season ticket locations has been set for May 31st. "After that date," he explained, "we will fill ticket requests from our many new subscribers."

Persons interested in purchasing tickets to the 1969-70 concert series were urged to contact the Symphony Office at 624-4125 for additional information. Mail requests should be directed to Post Office Box 3851, Carmel.

'Born Yesterday,' Roast Beef, Truly Unbeatable Combination At Studio

Billie Dawn is introduced as epitomizing the dumb blonde, but before the third act of "Born Yesterday," her high-pitched, whining voice has changed to the voice of a not-so-dumb blonde who knows just where she is going.

And Luann Brown plays the part to perfection at the Studio Theater production of the Broadway smash.

One of my big problems, however, in reviewing whatever is going on at the Studio is that Walter Jones Jr., gets in the way.

This amiable chef looks up from his steam table at the Studio, and his genial voice booms out "We have roast beef, corned beef and ham," and he sounds just as proud as all get out at having such a succulent menu.

When you tell him which you'll have, he gets out a mammoth hunk of meat and whonks off a huge slice, and with a luscious baked potato and a vegetable, you stagger back to your table to enjoy it.

Jones is a man, rare in today's buck-hungry world, who takes a genuine pride in his work, in the preparation of what are most certainly the choicest of viands, for the Studio patrons, and . . . .

"Born Yesterday" has one of the funniest comedy bits ever written for the stage—the gin game. The cards are dealt and the game goes on for several minutes without a sound except an absolutely mind-blowing tapping of the cards by Miss Brown. Only dialogue is when she gins or goes down with three.

The whole game, three hands, lasts about six minutes, and is almost one continuous laugh by the audience.

. . . and no matter whether you are the first or last customer at the steam table, there is always that huge smile, that booming voice, and the tender slicing of the rare roast beef, or the juicy corned beef, or the pink ham, and since it's lunch time, I think I'll be on my way to the Studio for same. Yum.

Meantime, don't miss "Born Yesterday." There are many familiar faces in the cast, the mainstays of the outstanding theater the Peninsula offers and it's almost impossible to single out one performance that overshadows another, once you get by the terrific portrayal by Luann Brown in the Judy Holiday part.

Chappell, Fowlston, Scholefield Head 'Me and Thee' At Circle

The cast of "Me and Thee," Charles Horine's delightful irresistibly funny comedy, which opens Friday, May 16th at the Circle Theater, Carmel, as a presentation of the Community Theater, boasts a cast of skilled players and theater-goers' favorites.

Gertrude Chappell, whose brilliant performance as Eleanor of Aquitaine in "The Lion In Winter" earlier this season won glowing tributes from the press and audience alike, will this time play a rather kooky ding-a-ling. Her role as "Alice" calls for her to change from an ultra conservative mother of a teen-age swinger with some very modern, far-out ideas.

Bill Scholefield plays "Paul," a designer of bathrooms with a trick knee which gives out at an embarrassing moment and leads him into an hilarious comic predicament. Scholefield's uproarious role is quite a switch from that of the evil Judge Wargrave that he just completed at the Circle in "Ten Little Indians."

Betty Fowlston, Peninsula favorite, whose unique talent has been applauded in such roles as the firey dominating Regina in the "Little Foxes," and the pathological spinster in "Ten Little Indians," this time turns to comedy. In "Me and Thee," Betty plays "Harriet LaGranky," the Meter Maid, whose judo-chops solve a "No Parking" problem.

Martin Brown plays "Dr. Reeves," a psychiatrist friend whose diagnoses Alice and Paul's problem and writes a groovy prescription that won't be found in any medical journal.

Wendy Grissim has been cast as the wild and uninhibited "Lela," a rambunctious young lady from Greenwich Village, who has some very peculiar hang-ups.

New to the Circle Theater is Alex Gossland, who plays Alice and Paul's happy hippie son, "Roger." Alex recently completed a role in "Murder in the Cathedral" at MPC.

President of the Community Theater, Richard Bragg, has assigned Michael Keller to direct "Me and Thee." Assisting Keller will be Ruth Fry as stage-manager; Jean McBride as production assistant; John Morgan lighting and sound technician, and Harry Graham in charge of sets.

After its opening on May 16, "Me and Thee" will play a limited run of only five weeks, playing Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30, and an arly 7:30 curtain on Sundays. Reservations and group discount bookings may be made now by calling the theater box office at 624-2669.

Charly — Experimental brain surgery changes a mentally retarded young man into a brilliant adult confronted with new and serious problems. Cliff Robertertson, Claire Bloom.

Twisted Nerve — Hayley Mills and Hywel Bennett star in this moody picture about the mental deterioration of a young man and his final loss of all hold on sanity.

Before Winter Comes — David Niven, Topol and Anna Karina. At the end of WWII, David Niven commands a displace persons camp. The gifted Israeli actor Topol is featured.

Charro — Elvis Presley forsakes singing for slinging—guns, that is. Bleak cinematography suggest the Italian Western approach, but Presley is excellent.

The Charge of the Light Brigade — An exploration into the social and military milieu that made possible the great blunder of the Charge. Trevor Howard, Vanessa Redgrave.

The Shoes of the Fisherman—A simple priest comes to Rome to become Pope and strives for peace amid the turmoil of the modern world. Anthony Quinn, Laurance Olivier, Oskar Werner, John Gielgud and Vittorio De Sica.

Finders Keepers, Lovers Weepers — This play on the nursery rhyme was directed by Russ Myer who made "Lorna," "Faster, Pussycat, Kill, Kill," and the like.

NPS 'Oklahoma!' Fresh, Tuneful

Rodgers and Hammerstein possessed a certain magic that has given virtually everything they wrote an ageless quality, and certainly "Oklahoma!" is no exception.

The Naval Postgraduate School Little Theater presented "Oklahoma!" Friday night, and it came out a smash hit.

The songs have lost none of their tuneful appeal, and the action is fast and well placed, due to the skillful direction of Dick Vreeland.

Vreeland possesses a deft touch in his direction, particulariy with comedy, and as a result, this production of "Oklahoma!" comes off as the rollicking musical it was intended to be.

Gary Grant as Curly and Pem Throell as Laurey, are delightful in the lead parts, their voices are well matched, and they sang their solos with excellent command.

But Barbara Grant as Ado Annie almost walked off with the show. The part is pure comedy, and Miss Grant played it for all it was worth. She had an exceptional sureness and stage presence, and when she was on stage, she just about took over completely.

The dancing was probably the best seen on the Peninsula in years, and the choral groups were well-rehearsed and lively.

Altogether, a delightful evening, and certainly worth the visit when it plays again in King Hall Friday and Saturday, May 16 and 17.

Stage Review

Oklahoma! — Rodgers and Hammerstein's ageless musical about the Indian Territory that became the State of Oklahoma. Delightful dancing, songs, romance and a truly villainous villain. Tomorrow and Saturday only at the Naval Postgraduate School.

Born Yesterday — At the Studio Theater-Restaurant. Zany comedy about a dumb blonde, her junk-dealer paramour, plus assorted nuts, screwballs, kooks and a pretty good head or so. They all combine to make up a truly side-splitting comedy which plays weekends at the Studio. Curtain at 8:30 Friday and Saturday, 7:30 Sunday.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Trout Season is With Us Again!"

Trout enthusiasts in California are looking forward to excellent fishing conditions this season. The Fish and Game Department in Monterey will furnish information and we have some special ways to prepare your trout.

The Carmel River and Los Padres Dam are stocked with catchable size trout, so be on your way. The golden trout is known for its beauty and the steelhead for its gameness. Although belonging to the same family as salmon, trout are less fatty and have an elusive flavor. Remember that this fastidious fish loses its tender texture if over-cooked.

Let's picture a sunrise campfire breakfast . . . with General Dwight Eisenhower as host. Trout fishing was one of his favorite sports and we know about his ways to prepare the day's catch.

Most of General Ike's trout fishing took place during their Colorado vacations. Denver was the former home of Mrs. Eisenhower, so let's take a short trip to Colorado.

All the same methods of cooking can be used here with us.

Start off the breakfast with delicious Rocky Ford cantaloupes. To keep these succulent melons properly chilled, place them in gunny sacks for a few hours in a shallow part of the stream near your campsite (or ice chest).

Next comes whole mountain trout, rainbow or speckled. Seasoned and stuffed with onion and lemon slices, they are among the world's best tasting fish. Undisputably delicate, yet solid and meaty with a pink flesh . . . and so aromatic.

And here is a true fisherman's secret to doing right by them. Begin about midnight. Wrap your late-afternoon catch in double duty foil, then in many layers of wet, wet newspapers. Place this bundle in a deep trench dug in the ground. Build a campfire to last until dawn right over this 'cache.' Fish will cook ever so slowly through your slumbering. You'll dream about how super your breakfast trout will taste in the morning!

We just cautioned not to overcook them. But never fear those wet newspapers will do the trick. About six a.m. these succulent trout will be ready. With them you'll want camp biscuits. Rather, one large camp biscuit . . . big enough to fill a heavy iron skillet. Prepare this king-size go-along from a packaged mix. When it starts rising, over the camp grid, dot it with butter and cover with foil until brownish. Divide and serve hot with butter and clover honey.

Have, but plenty, of reveille

Camp Coffee

Measure 2 level T. regular or coarse grind coffee into an old-fashioned granite coffee pot. Be sure it is spanking clean. Use this amount of coffee for each 8 oz. measuring cup of water. To 6 T. coffee, stir in ½ T. beaten egg white and one crushed egg shell. Pour on the required amount of boiling water. Cover and bring to a boil. Remove from heat immediately and let stand on back of camp stove 5 min. before pouring through strainer into those unbeatable G.I. mugs.

Nowadays the concentrated freeze-dried coffee is used with powdered, bottled coffee creamer, but we know for sure that this was not General Ike's forte.

Strengthened by this perfect way to start the day, the General and his party were off to the cold streams to net more prolific pink trout. No one loved trout fishing more than our late President. Even as you and we, he could enjoy them three times daily. For variety's sake here are two other ways:

Sauteed Salmon-Trout

Dip just-caught tnder fish in icy stream after pandressing. Lightly shake whole trout, one at a time, in heavy brown paper bag containing half flour and half white corn-meal, salt and pepper. Fresh crumbled basil adds a subtle tanginess. Heat fresh bacon fat in heavy iron skillet. When lightly smoking, gently saute each fish 5 minutes on both sides, depending on size. Serve right off with crisp ranch-style or Canadian (fat-back) bacon, lemon wedges and wild watercress. Otherwise just plain parsley (brought from home). But can anything compare with the exhilarating "bite" of stream cress?

A gourmet touch, even in the open spaces, is to saute slivered blanched almonds or pine nuts in butter. Remove and save. Fry trout fillets in this nut-flavored butter, adding dry white wine to barely cover. Return almonds to pan, cover and steam 5 minutes. Remove cover and brown quickly. Accompanying bottles of sauterne are chilled in edges of stream or river.

Trout Tid-Bits

Cut 1 large or 2 small trout into filets, then into pieces ¾ inch wide by 2 inches long. Cut a medium eggplant into pieces ½ inch long by two inches. Sprinkle with flour and fry each separately in butter. Make a nest of eggplant and canned shoestring potatoes. Place trout tid-bits in center. Sprinkle top with chopped parsley and lemon juice. Pour over all the browned butter to which a dash of A-1 sauce has been added. Decorate with slices of dill pickle.

When Mamie Doud married her Ike, her culinary efforts consisted of making fudge. But later the following became one of her favorites:

Mamie's Tomatoes

Sliced firm large tomatoes. Add dark brown sugar . . . a layer of tomatoes and a layer of brown sugar. Add vinegar and salt to taste. Put in refrigerator to chill for 2 hours before serving with sizzling trout. The flavor contrasts are exciting to the palate.

General Eisenhower loved to make vegetable soup. This is a fine beginning for a camp meal, spooned into mugs from a large kettle kept simmering very softly. Homemade and brought to the picnic site, it is most satisfying, full of vitamins so that no other vegetable or salad is needed.

General Ike's Own Vegetable Soup

Have meat market split 6 good beef shank bones so that marrow is exposed. In addition buy 4 lbs. soup meat. Add water to cover, 1 t. salt, some black pepper and 1 cut up garlic clove, 1 onion chopped, some celery leaves and parsley. Add enough boiling water as

Anna Katz Show At Casa Dolores

Across the street from the Carmel Museum of Art a new gallery has opened, the "Casa Dolores," and for a beginning, is featuring this month a one-man-show of the works of Anna Katz.

Anna Katz is almost an institution in Carmel, having operated her own dress shop on Ocean Ave. for more than 45 years before retiring to devote her time to painting.

Her painting is a sheer delight to the beholder. She paints in a primitive style, using bold, rich colors, and draws on her memories of her childhood in Russia for much of her inspiration and subject matter.

She has won first place in the Primitive Division in the annual Religious Art Show at the Naval Postgraduate School, and an honorable mention at the Monterey County Fair last year.

Quite a feat for one who began painting only five years ago.

"You don't have to worry about your young people in Carmel," Miss Katz says.

"I was invited to the high school to talk about my trip to Russia last year. I didn't want to go because I have an accent and I was afraid the students would not understand why I wanted to visit my home, or would laugh at my funny way of speaking.

"But I have never seen such a bunch of polite children who paid strict attention, then had a lot of good questions to ask."

Her works will be in exhibition at the Casa Dolores until June 6. Admission to the gallery is free.

Gerry Sharpe Photos On Exhibit

On Friday, May 16, from 8:00 to 10:30 p.m. at the Carmel Photography Center in the Sunset Center on San Carlos at 9th, an exhibit of photography by Gerry Sharpe will open.

The following comments by her friend and teacher, Ansel Adams, indicate what is in store for the viewers of this exhibit:

"The magic of a creative personality dominates over the patterns of the mind and the involved journeys of the ego. Fine artists, almost without exception, demonstrate this observation. Gerry Sharpe was a superior artist — a very fine photographer.

Gerry Sharpe rejected much of the routine "appearances" of the world; this attitude, set against the realities of existence and reinforced by her inflexible standards, appeared negative — sometimes self-destructive. But her inner awareness supported her vision; she recognized and sometimes accepted the rigors and the frustrations on the road to accomplishment.

What she left constitutes a remarkable group of photographs — more than most photographers leave as their creative legacy. A close friend, Liliane De Cock, has made beautiful and sympathetic prints of certain negatives of importance of which no adequate original prints exist. I attest to the authentic quality of these; Gerry was close to us for many years and her work was part of our experience.

This exhibit contains only a fraction of her work. We must seek ways and means to collate and fully present the rich heritage of photographs which has survived."

'Another Era' Represented In Show Currently At Carmel Museum of Art

by Louise Cook

Recent gifts to the Carmel Museum of Art and paintings on permanent loan constitute the current showing at the Dolores Street galleries.

Most of these art works portray local scenes as seen throughout the eyes of an earlier period.

Arthur Hill Gilbert is represented by "The Cove, Point Lobos." His "Robert Louis Stevenson House" is a masterpiece of color texture and composition.

"Carmelite Mission" is seen in a dim light by Eugen Newhaus (1879-1963) and executed in charcoal and pastel.

Thomas A. McGlynn (1878-1966) paints his lovely "Eucalyptus" under a cloudy sky, yet the sea is seen as brightly blue.

The brightest painting in the exhibit is a bold still life of apples on a striped cloth by Gene McComas.

Most of the paintings of this earlier period are somber in tone and the emphasis seems to be on simplified forms.

William Ritschel, N.A. (1869-1949) paints a strong and rugged "South Coast Cliffs in Spring."

In "My Studio Garden, Monterey," Clark Hobart (1871-1948) enlivens his canvas with little blobs of pure, bright color. There is a feeling of the old Dutch masters in "Storm Clouds Over Fruitvale" by C. Chapel Judson (1864-1946).

Maxine Albro Captures "Manuel Casellano" in a pensive mood.

Henry Percy Gray (1869-1952) has created a delightful view of "The Sherman Rose Adobe" in which the tile roof is done with special distinction.

Fine color prints of some of the most choice works in the museum's collection are available and can be framed for decorative groups.

TOGGERY TIPS

by Mimi E. Sidone

Summer is here! — How do we know? — It is heralded by fog — but do we care?

With such climatic indications it is also a barometer for women to discard winter garb — put on summer smiles, and get out and buy that summer outfit, dress or gee-gaw that is certain to lift the spirit — shake your husband into a second look at you and of course lighten his mood. — Dare we deny him that?

This year we are fortunate — Anything Goes! ! For the women who can wear pants — this is IN! Pants and pant suits are apropos for day and especially evening. The choice of materials and colors are here to suit all tastes. Do wear these with that "Je ne sais quoi" aplomb and you will bow to none of our Eastern or European counterparts.

Dresses — we have the arnel boom — the fabrics that are washable, lightweight, packable and do not wrinkle. What more can we ask for? The dresses are styled in colorful prints — sleeve and sleeveless to suit all ages. Tailored or casual, they are a must in one's wardrobe.

May I add a special Hooray! ! The shirtdress is — back!

The designers this year are kind. It is feminine — as it should be. We have a choice of silks, chiffons and crepes — and this can be the answer to the late afternoon, dinner and evening.

Full pleated skirts are to the fore. And for those who can wear them, they are an experience in freedom and ease.

And finally, knits of course are here to stay. They have acquired a new poshness. We have mixtures in polyesters giving them an elegant fluidity that is a new era in knits.

Oh to be a woman — now that summer's here!

Yoga Classes At The Sunset Center

Instruction in the revitalizing, tension-releasing techniques of yoga will be offered starting June 2 at Carmel's Sunset Center, San Carlos and 9th, under the guidance of Richard Hittleman, noted author and television instructor.

The yoga school will present morning, afternoon, evening and weekend classes in yogic postures, as well as a special course in meditation.

The popularity of Hittleman's books and Yoga for Health television series, current coverage on yoga in magazines, newspapers and other media witness a growing national awareness of the benefit incorporated in the study of yoga.

Classes cover studies for the beginning, intermediate and advanced student and feature a lifetime plan of practice methods for keeping physically fit and mentally aware.

Ordination

Ceremonies for the Ordination to the Priesthood of Rev. Arthur L. Cunningham are scheduled for tomorrow morning, May 16, at 10:30 a.m. at All Saints' Parish Church.

The Episcopal Bishop of California, C. Kilmer Myers, will officiate at the solemn proceedings, and the Bishop of Monterey, the Most Reverend Harry A. Clinch will be the preacher.

The public is invited to attend the ordination.

Juanita Messerle in Free Recital For Chamber Foundation May 21

The Carmel Foundation will present Juanita Messrle, pianist, in recital Wednesday, May 21, at 2:30, in the Town House, Lincoln near 8th.

Miss Messerle appeared in February with the Monterey Symphony Orchestra as winner of the Junior League Youth Auditions. She had achieved a "First Pianist" award of $100 and with it, the opportunity to perform the Schumann Concerto in A Minor with the Symphony.

Miss Messerle has just been awarded $1700 by the California State Scholarship Commission. She plans to major in music with performance and teaching as goals, and will use her scholarship at the University of Redlands when she enters next fall. She is currently studying with Wade Parks, accompanist for the choral groups at Seaside High School, and organist at Faith Lutheran Church.

Her program at the Town House will include major works by Bach, Beethoven and Chopin.

The public is invited to the recital without charge. Tea will be served.

Wayfarer 'Church Under Pines' To Be Held Sunday At Indian Village

The Church of the Wayfarer will hold its "Church Under the Pines" at 11:30 Sunday morning May 18 at Indian Village in the Del Monte Forest.

This annual out of doors affair will take the place of the regular second service on Sunday. The 9:30 a.m. service will be held as usual at the church.

The young people of the church will have charge of the service, under the sponsorship of the Commission on Education.

After the 30-minute service there will be a picnic, each family providing its own lunch. Punch, coffee and ice cream cones will be provided.

In the afternoon adults and young people will be invited to participate in games and athletic events.

Persons requiring transportation are asked to telephone the church office so arrangements can be made. There will be no admission charge at any of the Del Monte Forest gates for those attending the "Church Under the Pines."

Christian Science Bible Lesson

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon to be heard Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

"In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death." This verse from Proverbs 12 is the Golden Text.

A related passage in the lesson, from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Mortals are not like immortals, created in God's own image; but infinite Spirit being all, mortal consciousness will at last yield to the scientific fact and disappear, and the real sense of being, perfect and forever intact, will appear."

Weed-in, Weed-out At CCMP

A "WEED-IN" and barbecue supper will be held at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula on Saturday, May 17 for the adult members and families of the Church, beginning in the morning.

The following day, Sunday, May 18, the IKTHYS, high school age group, will hold a "Weed-Out" and barbecue supper to finish the job, under the direction of their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Harber.

Because of the heavy Spring rains, and the following sunshine, the green areas surrounding the church buildings have burgeoned and bloomed with grasses and weeds and heretofore have not been able to be cleared. It is hoped that the combined forces of young and old will control the growth before seeding, and also offer an opportunity for good fellowship, with a picnic supper around the outdoor grill in Elkinton Square behind the church building.

Christian Science Radio Program

"Helping Children to Reject Violence" is the title of Sunday's program on the Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You." It will be heard over KGO at 7:15, KRML at 7:45 and KDON at 8:45. Because we can't shield our children from all the violence in the world this program brings out the importance of giving our children at least equal time with God, who is Love.

GLAD TIDINGS

The Baha'i Faith is proclaiming to the world the glad tidings that the Divine Educator has in fact appeared, that his revelation has been delivered and recorded and may be studied by every earnest seeker, that the "Day of the Lord" has already dawned and the "Sun of Righteousness" has arisen.

FARMERS AND COWMEN — Carmelite J. C. Hale, center, sings the lively "The Farmer and the Cowman," backed by the residents of the Indian Territory, soon to become the State of Oklahoma. The action takes place in the Rodgers and Hammerstein smash musical hit "Oklahoma!" produced by the Naval Postgraduate School Little Theater and playing for the final two evenings on May 16 and 17. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. in King Hall Auditorium. For further information and reservations, call 375-5600.

'Ground Cover Day' At SPCA

May 17 and 18 will be "ground cover" days at the SPCA shelter on the Salinas-Monterey Highway.

In order to dress up the shelter and to also prevent soil erosion, the SPCA invites all residents of the area to show up on either of the two days to help with the project.

Bring your own plants, of course.

And planting tools.

And watering cans.

And anything else you'll need to get the plants planted.

When they say volunteer, then mean volunteer.

The SPCA will have a huge pot of coffee available both days to bolster flagging spirits.

Ground ivy, ice plant or anything else that will hold the soil will be welcome, and they'll have a jeep available to haul volunteers to the more remote areas.

There'll also be a lot of cuddy little animals around, so come prepared for love, too.

PARTY PLANS

stock boils down to keep meat covered.

When meat is very tender, pour all out through a colander into another large kettle. Let drain so as much juice will come out as possible.

Put stock through the colander again with a lining of 3 thicknesses of cheesecloth. Put stock in refrigerator over-night. Refrigerate meat and bones separately. Remove layer of fat formed on top of stock next day. Put stock back into kettle. Boil 1/3 cup barley in separate pan and save.

Add the following to the stock: 1 qt. can tomatoes; ½ cup fresh shelled peas; 2 peeled potatoes, 3 carrots and 1 turnip, diced into cubes; 3 branches celery and 1 onion, chopped; ½ cup canned corn; a handful raw cabbage, shredded. Add chopped parsley and taste for seasoning.

Vegetables should not be added all at once. Your effort must be to have them nicely cooked but not too much. The fire must not be too hot but soup should be kept bubbling. Kitchen Bouquet or similar seasoning and Accent help. Chop up meat from bones and soup meat to add to above. Do not allow liquid to boil down too much.

These are General Eisenhower's own words and first appeared in "JANGO Mess Kit," the sprightly cookbook of the Junior Army-Navy Guild Organization.

Now that the Director of F.B.I. has just celebrated his 45th year with this superior department, we'll end up with John Edgar Hoover's

Savory Lemon Pats

Half a lb. butter; 3 t. grated lemon peel, 3 T. fresh lemon juice; 1 t. seasoned salt; 2 T. finely chopped parsley; 1/8 t., each, savory, rosemary and marjoram.

Cream butter until soft. Add lemon peel and juice gradually, mixing well until butter has absorbed the herbs. Place on waxed paper and mold into a roll. Chill firm; slice and serve on hot broiled fish or steaks.

How is this for distinguished cookouts by these very famous patriots?

La Colombe—Warm, Hospitable

Sometimes the mere fact of good food is not enough to make a successful restaurant.

Sometimes the ingredients of warm hospitality, friendliness and grace are the requisites of success.

When all these elements can be combined, the result is an outstanding eating establishment like Henri and Rita LeGoff's "La Colombe Restaurant" in Pacific Grove.

La Colombe is the fourth in the line of French restaurants owned by the LeGoff's, the first two being in Toronto, the last in Vancouver.

Henri was born in Paris and grew up in the kitchens of the hotels his father managed, and for many years worked in the best restaurants in Paris, England and Montreal.

Rita is Canadian, born in Ontario of French Canadian parents, and the two have been a perfect combination.

They opened their first La Colombe in Toronto in 1959.

Henri, as chef, believes in making everything fresh in order to obtain the finest flavor. The restaurant makes its own beef stock from marrow beef bones, and when used as a base, makes La Colombe baked onion soup a tantalizing delight of just the right consistency and served at a hissing temperature encrusted with a savory cheese.

Rita believes that people should take more time eating. "I recommend at least two hours of leisurely dining when you eat with us," she says. "In two hours, you can relax and enjoy the courses as they come.'

When they are not busy in the restaurant, the LeGoff's and their two children, Claude and Vincent, enjoy the quiet of their Spanish-style home in Carmel.

Camp 'In' Concert At Forest Theater

Hamilton Camp and friends will present an afternoon of song and good times at the Forest Theater at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 18.

Although often labeled a folksinger, Camp's style is so individual and personal that it really does not fit into any category.

Camp, who accompanies himself on guitar and harmonica, sings many of his own compositions as well as those of such other writers as Paul Simon, Pat Sky and Bob Dylan.

"It's been said that I've emulated him (Dylan) at times — and it's true," Camp says. "When I first heard the harmonic as played by Dylan. I bought one for myself, and a holder, and started blowing it.

"I met Dylan in 1962 in New York, and I've emulated him as much as I can because he's a great singer, song writer and harmonica player."

Also appearing at the outdoor concert will be Oscar Lane, a mime, television actor, musician and a member of The Committee; Natasha Regina, who sings her own mythological songs; and master - of - ceremonies Lorenzo Music, a writer for such television shows as the Smothers Brothers and Glen Campbell.

The oncert will be a benefit for Subud California, a non-profit, non-sectarian, non-political spiritual brotherhood.

Tickets are being sold in advance at the Central Box Office at 6th and Mission and on Sunday at the theater.

Floyd Adams Dead

Floyd Austin Adams, for 26 years Carmel's building inspector, a job his father, Birney Adams, held before him, died on May 9, after a lengthy illness. He served as planning director from 1964 until retirement in 1967.

Born in Napa in 1906, he had lived in Carmel since early childhood. For many years he ran a hobby shop, his main interest being the lapidary art.

He is survived by his widow Gwendolyn, two daughters, Miss Ina Carolyn Adams of San Jose and Mrs. Jerry Fay Burger of Cornville, Ariz., and two sons, Birney, of So. Plainfield, N. J., and Ronald, of San Francisco.

Contributions to his memory may be sent to the Cobalt Therapy Unit at Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel.

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

We have the new Kurt Vonnegut novel which is entitled Slaughterhouse-Five or the Children's Crusade, A Dance With Death by Kurt Vonnegut, Jr., A Fourth-Generation German-American Now Living in Easy Circumstances on Cape Cod (and Smoking Too Much), who, as an American Infantry Scout Hors de Combat, as a Prisoner of War, Witnessed the Fire-bombing of Dresden, Germany, "The Florence of the Elbe," a Long Time Ago, and Survived to Tell the Tale. This is a Novel Somewhat in the Telegraphic Schizophrenic Manner of Tales of the Planet Tralfadore, Where the Flying Saucers Come From. Peace.

Now just in case you do not believe that all of that appears on the title page of the book, look for yourself. And really, it tells all about the book that you need to know before you read it, except one thing which is that it is exceptionally well written.

One warning, if you are yourself a little schizophrenic, better skip this one. It could set you back.

Only the brave write poetry. We have a collection of lovely poetry by Rosemary Thomas, a new addition to the Close poetry collection. It is simply entitled Selected Poems of Rosemary Thomas. You will enjoy them.

There has been a great deal of material published in the past two years by or about Negroes and this library has purchased quite a lot of it.

We recently added the International Library of Negro Life through the County and when it arrived we found to our horror that it was cataloged under the various subjects rather than under the Negro.

So if you wish to know about what the black race ras done in any given field, check under the activity rather than under the race.

For instance, a book on Negro literature is under literature, Negro art is under art, and so on.

We would have preferred to have these books catalogued under the Negro race simply because we believe that is the way most patrons will search for it.

Comes now a book by Lerone Bennett which is entitled Before The Mayflower.

It is a history of the American Negro from 1619 to 1966. The author is senior editor of the magazine Ebony. This is a big book, well illustrated, and beginning long before America was discovered. Beginning, in fact, in ancient Egypt and Ethiopia.

Freda White has a new travel book which is called a "regional guidebook." Covering the French country from Berri to Bordeaux, the title of the book is Ways of Aquitaine. There are 24 photographs and two maps marking locations of the various Romanesque churches for which this area is noted.

The Secret Army, by Goeffrey Bocca, is the story of the Secret Army Organization of France which in 1961 brought about the revolt against General de Gaulle.

Members of the organization were determined that Algeria should remain a part of France and would stop at nothing in their efforts to make it remain so. They murdered, robbed, terrorized not only Algeria but also Paris.

Their revolt lasted but four days, because the O.A.S. could not coordinate its various arms.

Carmel Little League Second Week

At the end of the first two weeks of play, the standings of the six major teams in the Carmel Little League are: Derek Rayne, 5-0; Boys Town, 3-2; P.A. Macs, 3-2; Giants, 2-3; Sport Shop, 2-3; and Camera Craft, 0-5.

The first home run of the season came on opening day when Neil Miyamoto of Derek Rayne slammed a long one over the center field fence. Kim Cater also hit a home run for Derek Rayne. The only other one was Mike Cate for the Giants.

An example of the great differences which occur from day to day in Little League play was shown last week when Sport Shop lost to the Giants by a score of 18-1 on Wedensday, but won 12-0 over Boys Town on Saturday. Mark Jayne and Craig Spencer combined to pitch a two-hit game for Sport Shop, and Mike Harbert, Catcher for Sport Shop, hit 5 for 5.

Standings in the minor league: Cypress Plumbing, 4-0; Carmel Plaza, 4-1; Village Inn, 4-1; Rocky Point, 3-2; Mission Ranch, 2-2; Mediterranean Market, 1-3; Jax Freeze, 0-4; and Cate Electric, 0-5.

OUR LITTLE TWO BEDROOM BUNGALOW — Owner has obtained a termite clearance and reduced the price from $28,500 to $27,000. It is a real value in Carmel at that figure.

WE HAVE A NEW LISTING that should catch the eye of the astute investor. The improvements are on two 50'x 100' lots on Forest Avenue just South of Ocean. The home on the North lot is an old Carmel Charmer of two bedrooms, a bath and a half, a dining room and den. The two car garage and storeroom are on the South lot and could be incorporated into any new structure you have in mind. The whole package is very realistically priced at $43,500.

OUR OTHER NEW LISTING is an Artist's delight — but it can easily be converted to a Mother's delight by just using the extra large studio for a family room. It is basically two bedrooms, two baths, a split-level-up studio, and a split-level-down with two-car garage large enough for a hobby shop. The kitchen itself with its breakfast area and outlook will sell any mother, not to mention the large dining "L". The accoustical ceilings really absorb the noise. The landscaping and rock walls and planters are designed for minimum maintenance. A very good value at $45,000.

WE HAVE AN EXCELLENT view building site on Oleada for $35,000, another without an ocean view over on Portola, and a top-notch acre in Rancho Rio Vista for $22,500 with a view.

TEA HOUSE OF THE AUGUST MOON

This most interesting, split-level, four-year-old residence is offered to you for the first time. Located on highly desirable Carmel Point, it breathes pure oriental charm, from the telescopic Shoji screens which when drawn provide an unimpaired view of the 1½-block-distant surf, sand and sunset, to the oriental garden which is practically maintenance free. Dsigned by Burde and Shaw, built by Geyer Construction Co., the entire home shows impeccable taste and quality. The inviting entry leads to the living room that has a splendid view of the water. While entertaining, the wet bar is handy and so is the convenient powder room. Two bedrooms and bath on the main floor, the dining room with rheostat lighting and the compact electric kitchen make house maintenance a breeze. The attractive stairway leads to the large room and bath on the lower level that could be used as bedroom or den. This room also has a view of the landscape beyond the waterfront. We believe this is one of the most outstanding homes to be offered on the Point for some time. Priced at a figure of $85,000.

Special Notices

OH, for the Merry Month of May! Make it a must to come a-larking up the winding Carmel Valley Road to our charming little Village, where one may see artisans at work — painting, sculpting, batiking, silk-screening, potting, as well as serving up delectable works of culinary art.

Such as Swiss Quiche Lorraine, Hot Apple Dumplings, Salubrious Sandwiches, and now, Spring Salads, a glory of garden goodness, at the Keeping Room. We offer a pristine creation of all-white-meat chicken salad with slivered almonds mingling, and a piquant pineapple cream dressing to slather all over it . . . with its own miniature loaf of hot lemon herb bread on its own little bread board.

And we have California Gourmet Salad: halves of tiny cherry tomatoes, pineapple chunks, avocado, Velveeta cheese, water chestnuts, cucumber, scallions and pecans, with caper cream dressing to set it off, and curry bread on the side. Fruit Salad in all its splendor with our own marvelous raisin orange bread. And lastly, a fresh tossed salad of sweet lettuce greens and avocado with bacon bits sprinkled through, with either Ancient Mariner or oil and lemon dressing, accompanied by hot Serendipity Bread.

For The Frustrated Rancher

I am a small 1.11-acre ranch looking for a new owner. My boss has had me for sixteen years and he is tired of me. I have over fifty fruit trees, vegetable and flower gardens, an irrigation system, a well and pump. The three-bedroom house is in immaculate condition. I would like a new energetic owner, one who is not satisfied to sit still. Your total investment $51,000

Sensibly Priced

WITHIN REACH OF A YOUNG FAMILY'S BUDGET is this very livable two-bedroom home which is an easy child's walk to the Woods School. The freshly painted exterior, fence-enclosed patio play area with its detached hobby room, the valuable corner site and the neat-as-a-pin interior are a few of the assets that make the Listing Price of $32,500 a realistic one.

Emphasis On Setting and Outlook

FOR THIS "SPECIAL" RESIDENCE with a prime Carmel Woods location. The site (approximately a quarter acre) is informally landscaped for easy care. The carpeted living room features a wide outlook toward the west (sunset's glow!); one bedroom has a vista of Point Lobos; the other bedroom provides a glass-door peek at the sheltered patio. The eye-catching kitchen combines peasant colors . . . copper-tone, soft yellow and Delft blue . . . and is equipped with all the required appliances. Dining is a delight indoors in the cheerful new wing or outside in the sunny patio where steaks can be grilled on the outdoor fireplace. There are: a slate-floored entry, a laundry room, an attached garage, garden lights, chalk rock retaining walls and planting that affords privacy. Carpeting, draperies and appliances included in the price of $44,500.

Peace and Tranquility

AT THE END OF A CUL-DE-SAC: This picturesque property suggests an atmosphere of Early Monterey-Carmel architecture in its white exterior with a half-balcony, the shake roof and the protected entry. There's charm in the living room with a vaulted ceiling and random-width floors, in the master bedroom with its reading-sewing nook in the informal dining corner adjacent to the remodeled kitchen and in the guest room and bath on a lower level. The grounds are spacious and ideal for the building of a large studio. Excellent value at $37,500.
